About Kyushu University

Founded in 1911 as one of Japan's seven Imperial Universities, Kyushu University has established itself as a leader in education and research not just in Japan, but throughout Asia. It consists of 12 undergraduate schools, 18 graduate schools, and one university hospital, and currently has a total of roughly 20,000 students and over 2,000 faculty members.

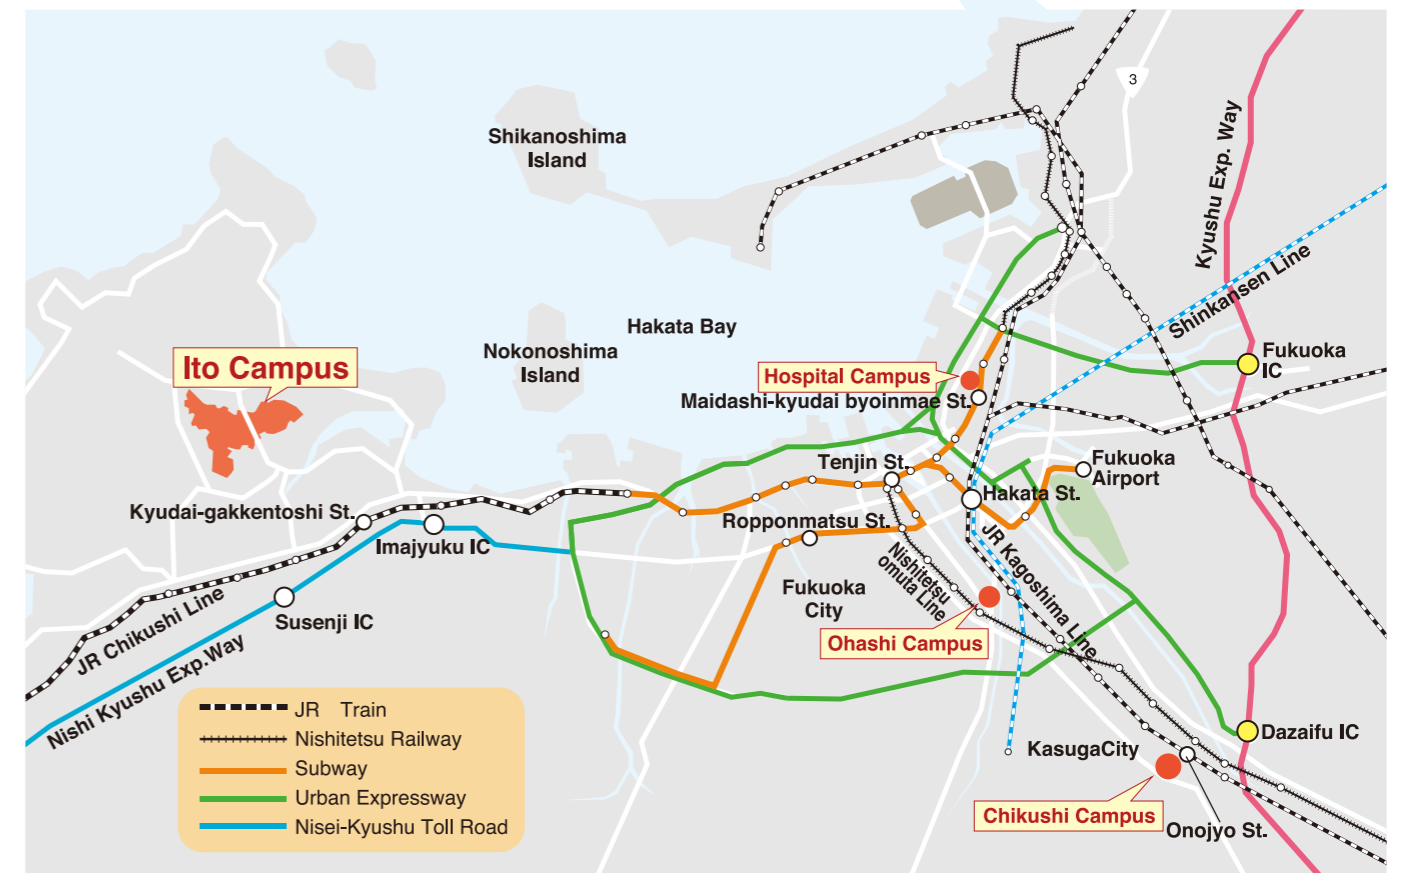

Kyushu University has 4 campuses in all, with most in Fukuoka City, Japan.

- Ito Campus
- Hospital Campus
- Chikushi Campus
- Ohashi Campus

Students study on different campuses according to each major. Most students will study on Ito Campus, where the latest equipment and facilities are available.

We are in Fukuoka, Japan

Fukuoka, home to Kyushu University, is the biggest city in Kyushu, with a population of approximately 1.5 million. The trip from Tokyo to Fukuoka takes about 90 minutes by plane. With a mild climate, Fukuoka is said to be one of the most comfortable cities to live in Asia. If one had to express its appeals in one phrase, that phrase would be “well-balanced.” While the streets of Tenjin, the commercial center of the city, are lined with modern buildings and department stores, there is abundant nature at the seaside and in the mountains, both located in the suburbs, and numerous cultural and historical buildings such as temples and shrines. With a moderate population, an urban district existing in harmony with nature, and convenient transportation facilities, including the airport, Fukuoka has the right balance of various elements.
