

Japan-in-Asia Cultural Studies Program

Bachelor of Humanities / School of Humanities

Program Outline

The Japan-in-Asia Cultural Studies Program (JACS) offers you the opportunity to explore the rich and complex relations between Japan and other East Asian countries. With particular emphasis on cultural history, cinema and visual culture and literature. The curriculum is designed to help you master general academic skills such as critical thinking, analytical reading, and effective communication skills while acquiring a broad perspective on Japanese culture in Asia and specialized knowledge in one or more discipline. JACS aims to produce active and productive members of global society, and to play a key role in facilitating cultural exchange and friendship between Japan and the world.

Course topics

Japanese transnational and minority literatures, Asian cinema history, critical film analysis, Japanese cinema history, Literary theory, Modern Japanese and East Asian history, Film theory, History of visual culture, Japanese literature and translation, Japanese literature and gender, Modern Japanese literature

Career Prospects

A high proportion of our graduates elect to pursue a course of postgraduate study at universities around Japan and the world. JACS graduates can also pursue career options including: teaching Japanese language and culture, working in the international section of a government office, working in an international trading or manufacturing company, journalism or working in arts and cultural organizations. There are good employment prospects for JACS graduates both in Japan and worldwide. Of course, you are also welcome to continue studying at the Graduate School of Humanities at Nagoya University. You can carry out additional research in your academic interests in modern literature, cinema, and/or modern history in JACS, or study another humanities field in the Graduate School of Humanities.
