Excellence and Innovation in Synergy toward a Leading University

創造と変革を先導する大学

Over more than a century of history, Tohoku University's tradition of "Research First", philosophy of "Open Door" and ethos of "Practice-Oriented Research and Education" have produced excellent graduates, generated numerous research achievements and contributed to the development of a peaceful and just society.

1907

First Female Students

Cika Kuroda Raku Makita Ume Tange

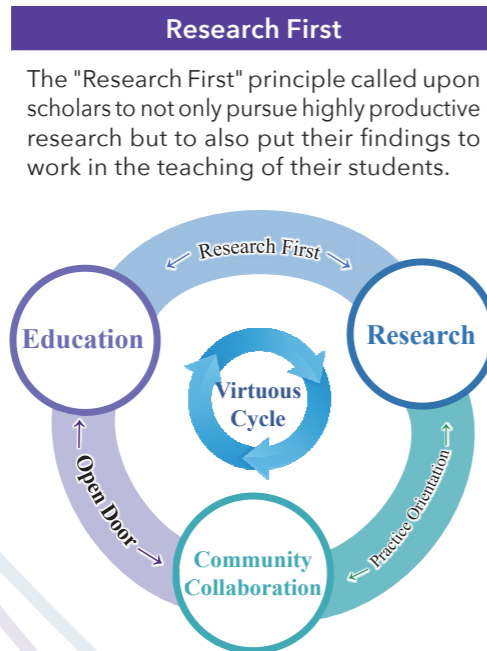

Open Door

Tohoku University has firmly adhered to its "Open Door" policy. It was the first Japanese university to accept female and international students, and that liberal tradition has certainly continued to this day.

International Students

Lu Xun Chen Jianguo Su Buging

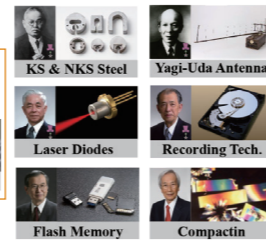

Research First

The "Research First" principle called upon scholars to not only pursue highly productive research but to also put their findings to work in the teaching of their students.

2002 Nobel laureates Spectrometry

Practice Orientation

"Practice-Oriented Research and Education" has long been one of the core values of Tohoku University, whereby the fruits of leading-edge research are put to practical use for the benefit of society and toward improving living standards.

2011.3.11

The Great East Japan Earthquake

Recovery and Reconstruction Activities

The Great East Japan Earthquake occurred on March 11, 2011 and had a magnitude of 9.0, the largest ever recorded in Japan. It inflicted extensive damage on the university and the surrounding Tohoku region. However, we were able to ensure student safety and fortunately there were no human losses on our campuses. We worked hard to restore the university's educational and research infrastructure, and were able to start the new academic year two months later. The university is deeply grateful to all those in Japan and abroad who provided encouragement and timely relief efforts.

Lessons from 3.11 Toward the Future

Institute for Disaster Reconstruction and Regeneration Research

The Institute for Disaster Reconstruction and Regeneration Research was established in April 2011 to consolidate, disseminate, and implement university-wide efforts related to research, education, and social contributions aimed at recovery from the Great East Japan Earthquake. As a university located in the center of the affected area, Tohoku University has a historic mandate to exert every effort toward reconstruction. In cooperation with the local and national government, the university is developing eight projects and over 100 action plans to lead the reconstruction of the Tohoku region and the revitalization of Japan.

Tohoku University Vision 2030

We published the Tohoku University Vision 2030, which describes an ideal form for Tohoku University for the year 2030 and specifies mid/long-term policies and specific actions to achieve it. It lays out 19 strategic priorities for implementing four pillars of education, research, cooperation with the community, and administrative innovations.

Be Global

@TOHOKU UNIVERSITY

"Be Global" Project

Responding to the "new normal" required by our times, Tohoku University is working to lead innovation in the global community. As part of this effort we have founded "Be Global", a new project to assist international education. "Be Global" will address the obstacles that the COVID-19 pandemic poses to international exchange, study abroad, and collaborative/experiential active learning while extending learning/living assistance to students striving to realize their potential as global leaders. In doing so, it will construct a new model for further developing international education support systems at Tohoku University.

2020

The Front Line of COVID-19 Research

Tohoku University takes social responsibility seriously and we are fully committed to collaborating with our partners - at home and abroad- in the fight against the deadly coronavirus. To coordinate our efforts, the university has launched a collaborative project focused on coronavirus research. History has shown that we can overcome great challenges by working together and leveraging our strengths.

Starting Grants for Research toward Resilient Society (SGRRS)

Tohoku University has adopted 10 projects for the "SGRRS".

The seven pillars of research project, Co-Pro7

The project seeks to establish a framework to identify problems and resolve them. At the heart of this are collaborative projects. Further initiatives include developing research centers that revolutionize society and digital communication, allowing humanity to adapt and respond effectively to the coronavirus.

*Co-Pro7 means "Seven Collaborative Research Projects for COVID-19".

Reunion of Cultures Tohoku University International Festival

Welcome to Tohoku University

With over 30 years of history, the Tohoku University International Festival is a venue for exchange between students and the community. It could not be held in 2020 or 2021 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, but in 2022 it was resumed under the theme of "Reunion of Cultures," attracting students, staff, alumni, and people from the community. It was a wonderful opportunity to celebrate diversity and different cultures.

The International Festival is organized primarily by the students. The main stage features folk songs, traditional dance, a runway showcasing traditional clothing, and various other events. The students also operated 10 stalls serving food from around the world.

This International Festival provides an opportunity to create connections between Tohoku University students, builds bridges of tolerance and solidarity among people from various world cultures, and creates an enriching environment.

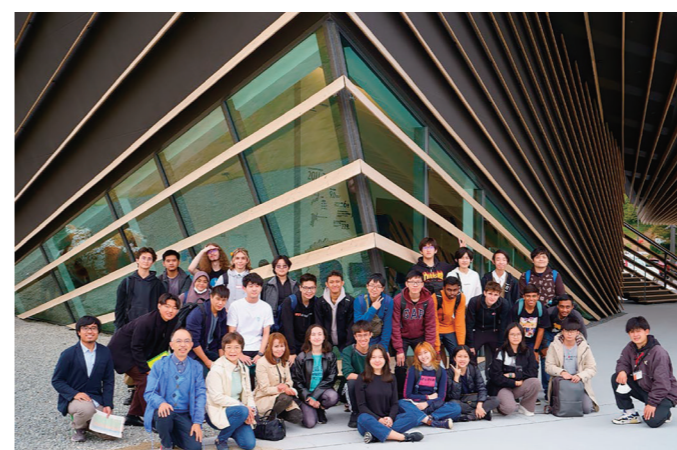

Future Global Leadership Program

The Tohoku University Future Global Leadership (FGL) program offers degrees taught in English to brilliant students from around the world.

We currently offer three undergraduate courses in the science and engineering fields with classes for 4-year bachelor's degrees beginning on October 1 every year. For graduate students, we also conduct more than 20 master and doctor courses taught in English in a wide variety of disciplines.

For more details, please refer to the information on pages 9 and 10.

Short-Term Student Exchange Programs

Tohoku University has resumed in-person short programs, mainly for students from partner schools. The university was able to accept students for these programs for the first time in three years due to the relaxing of governmental immigration restrictions.

The students experienced the "real Japan" through substantial content, such as seminars on Japanese culture, collaborative study with Tohoku University students, and exchange activities.

The short programs are explained on page 18.

Global Network

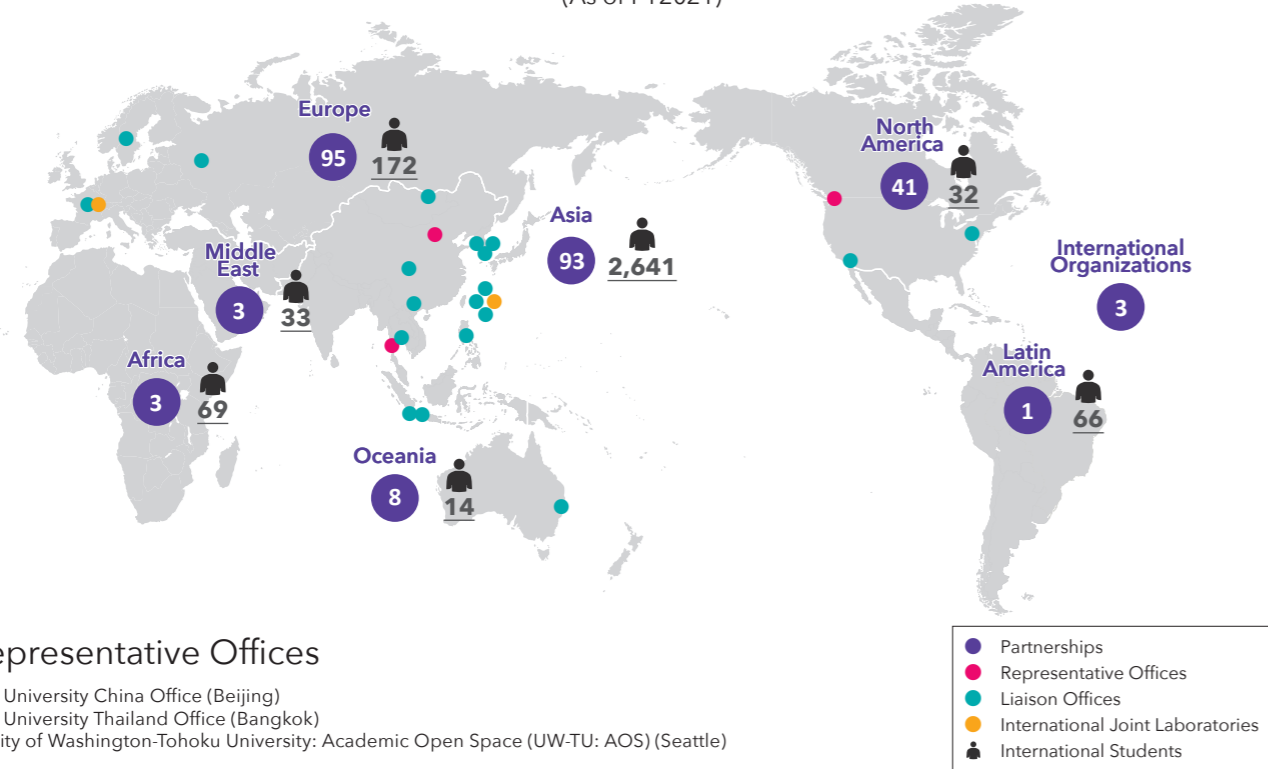

グローバルネットワーク

Tohoku University's unique global partnership network consists of academic exchange agreements with many top educational institutions around the world. The university is developing various study abroad programs and expanding its research presence around the world.

東北大学は世界各国の教育・研究機関との間で大学間または部局間の学術交流協定を積極的に進めており、教育・研究の舞台は世界へと広がっています。

Non-Degree Programs

非正規生

Research Students

Tohoku University also actively recruits short-term non-degree international students, i.e. research students. In general, research students receive guidance for their research under an academic advisor. Some students enter as research students to receive academic guidance before applying to a degree-conferring program.

How to apply

To become a research student, you should first find a professor to be your academic advisor, and contact him/her directly. (This is similar to the graduate school application procedure.) Once you have found an academic advisor, you should undergo application procedures for the relevant faculty/graduate school. You may apply to a wide range of departments at Tohoku University, including faculties, graduate schools, and research institutes.

As a research student, you must pay the designated examination, admission, and tuition fees. The term of study for research students is no more than one year.

Special Auditing Students and Special Research Students

Exchange students will be admitted to Tohoku University as Special Auditing Students or Special Research Students as per the exchange agreement.

Short-Term Visiting Trainees

This status is given to students who receive training at Tohoku University for more than 3 days but less than 90 days. Students from countries having a visa waiver agreement with Japan usually do not obtain a student visa/student residential status. They are not "registered" students.

研究生

東北大学では、学位を取得しない短期の留学生も積極的に受け入れています。研究生として、指導教員の下で研究指導を受ける制度が一般的です。また、学位を取得する課程に入学する前に、指導を受けるために研究生となることがあります。

研究生になるには、大学院入試と同様に、はじめに指導を受ける教員を探し、直接教員に受入を依頼します。指導教員が決まったら、各学部・大学院などへ出願の手続きをとります。研究生は、東北大学の学部・大学院のほか、研究所などで広く受け入れられています。出願・入学には所定の検定料・入学料・授業料を払う必要があります。在学期間は1年以内です。

特別聴講学生・特別研究学生

本学が世界各国の高等教育機関と締結する大学間交流協定等に基づき在籍する交換留学生は、特別聴講学生又は特別研究学生として区分されます。

特別訪問研修生

3日以上90日未満の期間、東北大学で研修を行う場合の東北大学での身分です。通常、日本のビザ免除国では留学ビザ・留学の在留資格は取得しません。
